OUR TOWN

VOL. 29—No. 21

NARBERTH, PA., THURSDAY, AUGUST 19, 1943

PRICE FIVE CENTS

Putting a friend on the 12:22 for town last Saturday night, we met Attorney John Flynn getting off the same train. "I'm the proud father of a baby girl," he announced. The child, the Flynn's second, was born that night at Bryn Mawr Hospital. She will be christened Judith, a fitting companion name for her three-year-old brother "Jeff." Mrs. Flynn, the former Marjorie Topless, was president of the Narberth Junior Women's Club last year. They live at 210 Essex Ave., Narberth.

The summer uniforms of the WAVES sure have class. At least one we saw at the Narberth Station the other evening did. That also applies to the young lady inside it.

Lieutenant Jack Jeffries, former Lower Merion Township Commissioner and one-time eNarberth ballplayer, is in the Solomons, but he didn't go by plane or boat. This Solomons is not in the South Pacific Islands, but an amphibious Naval training base in Maryland, the place a British ship was ordered to which caused consternation in the Admiralty until a little matter of geography was straightened out. Lieutenant Jeffries, who has been stationed there since last October, gets home for a couple of days about every three weeks.

Lieutenant Commander William Brooks, of the Avon Apartments, was host aboard a cruiser at the Philadelphia Navy Yard last Saturday, to Desmond J. McTighe, Narberth attorney and appeal agent of the Narberth Draft Board.

The Bernard A. Sacks, formerly of Lantwyn Lane, Narberth, have purchased a house on Oak Terrace, Ithan, which they have been renting for a few months. Their younger son, John, had his tonsils out at Jefferson Hospital this week. Miss Jane Seely, whose mother and sister live in Narberth Hall, is working for the "Reader's Digest" at Pleasantville, N. Y., and enjoying it thoroughly. Her job is helping answer the voluminous mail occasioned by the various articles in the magazine.

WAR BALLOTS FOR ARMY

Blank forms are available to all officers and enlisted men of the Army to enable them to apply for war ballots for elections to be held this year, the War Department reports. Public Law 742 requires these forms to be available in years when when officers of the national government are elected. The forms will also enable legally qualified soldier voters to participate in state elections.

REPAIR SCHOOL BUSES NOW

School authorities and school bus operators have been warned by ODT against delaying the overhauling of school buses. Last-minute efforts to obtain necessary repairs may result in buses being laid up when schools open this fall. The shortage of skilled mechanics and the scarcity of repair parts may result in unexpected delays, and a check-up may reveal that some buses cannot be repaired and must be replaced. The ODT suggests that school authorities or school bus operators contact local ODT District Maintenance Advisory Committees to help solve problems that may arise.

GIFTS TO THE U. S. A.

Thousands of Americans, in addition to paying taxes and investing in War Bonds, have given several million dollars in cash to the government and many other gifts. The Treasury to date has completed more than 20,000 transactions in connection with contributions ranging, in cash, from one cent to several hundred thousand dollars, totaling $4,423,000.

BENEFITS GRANTED TO WAC

Members of the Women's Army Auxiliary Corps, as soon as they take the oath as members of the Woman's Army Corps, become eligible for National Service Life Insurance and the free mail privilege. Furthermore, a member of the WAC who is married to a service man is eligible to receive the usual family allowance for soldiers' wives.

Prominent Bala-Cynwyd Resident Succumbed at Home

"Narberth Day" was held at the Blood Donor Center of the Main Line Branch of the Red Cross, on Friday, August 13. Thirty-one volunteers, headed by Thomas W. Merkle, came to the Center, in Center, in Ardmore, to give their blood, helping to swell the week's quota of plasma to 858 pints, the all-time record for the Branch.

The group which was organized through the Volunteer Medical Service Corps in Narberth, included many who had previously donated blood.

Mrs. Fordyce A. Bothwell, of 646 Bryn Mawr Ave., Penn Valley, was admitted to "The Gallon Club," consisting of those who have donated eight or more pints of blood.

The Narberth people who gave their blood on Narberth Day were: Mrs. Gertrude Best, Mrs. John Boardman, Mrs. Dorothy Burns, Mrs. Dorothy Cederstrom, Miss Lucy Censor, Mrs. Marlan Cooke, Mrs. Helen Doty, Miss Virginia Durbin, Mrs. W. A. Fox, Ralph Giles, Mrs. Kenneth Graham, Jr.,

Facilities were taxed beyond capacity, and 94 additional volunteers had to be sent to the Philadelphia Donor Center.

RALPH S. DUNNE ADDRESSES ROTARY

Government Aid To Small Business Discussed

"What the government is doing and hopes to do for small business," was the topic of Ralph S. Dunne, guest speaker at the Bala-Cynwyd-Narberth Rotary Club this week.

Dunne discussed the "retail clinics" which have been established by the Department of Commerce to train men to be able to "iron out some of the kinks in small business," by such means as pooling delivery, quantity purchasing, etc.

He pointed out that since 1929 there has been an increase of 300,000 in the number of retailers in the United States, as opposed to a 20,000 decrease in the number of chain store units. Dunne urged the application of the scientific methods of big business to the small shop.

Retail business problems have claimed Dunne's interest for some time. He recently journeyed to Washington to discuss the subject with Senator Murray.

In the absence of President Geo. Kirkpatrick, Alvin Shall presided. Dick Gillis, vocational service chairman, introduced the speaker.

Next week, Harvey C. Keim will be the guest speaker. His topic will be: "Pay-as-you-go Taxes."

MISS OBERGE ENDS LIFE UNDER TROLLEY

Former Teacher who Lost Fortune Killed by P. and W. Car

Miss Ullericka H. Oberge, 70, socially prominent, former teacher at the Wright School in Bryn Mawr, and former member of the Haverford Township School Board, died last night under the wheels of a Philadelphia and Western trolley car, near the Bucks Lane crossing in Haverford.

Once wealthy, Miss Oberge had threatened to commit suicide in despondence over her lost fortune. She told her landlord, Vincent Bonaventure, of 328 Locust Ave., Ardmore, "Don't be surprised if I put my head under a railroad train some of these days."

The P. and W. car which figured in the tragedy left the Haverford station at 9:30 P. M. The motorman saw Miss Oberge's body stretched out by the tracks, but was unable to stop the car in time.

Miss Oberge was a sister of the late George F. Oberge, formerly of "Upsala," Haverford, who was the husband of the former Ethel Atterbury.

Charles Murphy Is Meteorology Student

Charles G. Murphy, 19, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles V. Murphy, Haverford Manor, Haverford, Pa., is a member of the first basic pre-meteorology class to study at Haverford College under the Army Air Forces Training Command program to train weather officers for Army Air Forces combat units.

A graduate of the 1942 class of Lower Merion High School, Murphy was attending the University of Pennsylvania when he enlisted Dec. 14, 1942.

Two Violators Lose Gas Coupons

The Ardmore War Price and Rationing Board held hearings on Tuesday night, August 17, to consider alleged violations of gasoline rationing regulations.

The Basic A Ration of Loretta B. Frantz, 179 Middlefield Rd., Ardmore, was suspended for a period of one month, effective August 18, for using B Coupons for purposes other than those for which they were issued.

The Basic A Ration of Catherine Scott, 847 Beechwood Rd., Wynnewood, was suspended for a period of one week effective October 18, for violating the ban on non-essential driving.

ARDMORE OFFICER RECEIVES MEDAL

Wins Silver Star for Gallantry in Anti-Aircraft Unit

Lieutenant Colonel James S. O'Halloran, U. S. Marine Corps, has been awarded the Silver Star Medal for gallantry displayed while commanding an anti-aircraft unit on Henderson Field, Guadalcanal.

Son of Mrs. James O'Halloran, 6 Meadow St., North Adams, the Lieutenant Colonel is married, and his wife, Mrs. Katherine S. O'Halloran, lives at 212 Llanfair Rd., Ardmore.

The following Presidential citation accompanied the award:

"For conspicuous gallantry and intrepidity as commanding officer of a Marine Artillery Unit from August 7, 1942 to January 4, 1943, during operations against enemy Japanese forces at Guadalcanal, Solomon Islands.

"Throughout this period, Major O'Halloran conducted the fire of his unit with such skill, courage, and effectiveness that nine Japanese bombers were shot down and five more probably destroyed, while damage to the airport was held to a minimum. His fearlessness and unyielding devotion to duty contributed greatly to the success of his unit in holding and maintaining operations from Henderson Field, and were in keeping with the highest traditions of the United States Naval Service."

Brookline Sparked By Joseph is Strong Contender For Main Line Playoff

"We're going to win the pennant!"

When Eddie Hare, grey-haired Brookline manager, quietly made this prediction a month ago, he wasn't taken seriously by anyone. Those in whom he confided wished him luck and went their way, smiling knowingly, convinced that "good old Eddie" was just a bit draft from the tension of just one too many Main Line Baseball League campaigns.

At the time Hare's Brookline club was mired deep in fifth place, just a half step away from the cellar. The postseason playoffs looked beyond reach, and any possibility of the Hares being title contenders was ridiculous.

But not to Eddie Hare. "We're going to win the pennant," he insisted, "because we have found just the boy we need. His name is George Joseph, a pitcher. Just wait and see."

Much to the amazement of Main Line fandom, Hare has made good much of his boast. His Brookline

COUNTY HAS POOR SAFETY RECORD

Has Greatest Number of Pedestrian Fatalities in Area

Montgomery County's pedestrian fatality record in the first six months of 1943 is the worst in the Philadelphia metropolitan area, according to figures received by Keystone Automobile Club from the State Bureau of Highway Safety.

While Philadelphia, Bucks, Chester and Delaware counties showed a decrease in pedestrian deaths, Montgomery had a 140 per cent increase.

The records are:

	1942	1943	Change
Phila.	104	72	32
Bucks	6	4	2
Chester	6	3	3
Delaware	24	13	11
Montgomery	5	12	7

In all classes of motor vehicle accidents, 536 persons were killed in the first six months, a reduction of 39.1 per cent compared to 1942 and 38.1 per cent under the average for the previous fourteen years. Of the 563 total killed, 305 or 54.2 per cent were pedestrians.

The State's figures further reveal that for the first time since 1930 the "day" and "night" accident picture has undergone a change. Previous to 1930 there were more day than night fatalities. In 1931 the night accident curve shot upward and has continued until this year. Daytime accidents have changed from 36.5 to 55 per cent of the total number.

Church Kitchen To Open for Community Canning Project

On Monday morning at 9 o'clock, the kitchen of the Methodist Church in Narberth, will be open for canning produce raised in local gardens.

The project is sponsored by the Emergency Feeding Group of Narberth, with the work being done by the women of all the churches in the community. Each church has its own appointed day on which it will furnish workers to the kitchen for the community activity.

The food canned thus is kept in reserve so that a supply will be available to the community in the event of an emergency. If no such emergency arises, the canned foods are divided equally among the Catholic and Protestant churches in Narberth, which in turn give them to their own charitable organizations.

Last year several hundred jars of canned foods were turned over to the churches to be distributed.

Relief Payments Show Increase

Harrisburg, Aug. 13, State Treasurer G. Harold Wagner reported that direct relief payments made to needy residents of Montgomery County during the week ended today show an increase of $20.30 over those of the previous week.

Payments for the week totaled $737.50 which was $156.10 more than those of the comparable week of last year. Payments by the Bureau of Assistance Disbursements in the State Treasury Department follow:

Current week, $737.50, 153 checks; previous week, $717.20, 148 checks.

GLENN APPOINTED BOND DRIVE HEAD

Replaces Merrick As Campaign Chairman in Co.

T. Allen Glenn, Jr., president of The Peoples National Bank of Norristown, has been appointed the chairman of the Montgomery County War Finance Committee for the Third War Loan Campaign. It was announced by E. A. Roberts, State War Finance Committee chairman.

Glenn replaces Rodney K. Merrick, who at first was designated as chairman, and who finds it impossible to accept the post due to pressure of his duties as full-time chairman of the committee promoting Pay Roll deduction sales. Merrick will act as vice-chairman of the County Third War Loan Campaign Committee in charge of the Industrial Division for War Bond purchases.

The Third War Loan Drive in Montgomery County is part of the national campaign for the sale of $15,000,000,000 of War Bonds to be sold to individuals, organizations and business houses other than commercial banks. Montgomery County's quota in this campaign has not been announced, but it is fully expected that the quota figure will be high.

War Ration Book 3 To Be Valid in Sept.

The War Price and Rationing Board announced that War Ration Book Three will become valid for use about the middle of September.

All individuals who have not yet received their books should immediately apply to their Local War Price and Rationing Board, otherwise it may be impossible to secure books in time, according to the announcement.

Members of the Armed Forces will receive their application blanks through their Commanding Officers, and therefore they should not apply to local boards.

Of this number, 98,012 Republicans and 25,139 Democrats will be able to vote at the Primary with the remaining 2,223 most of whom are registered non-partisan and a scattering in miscellaneous parties not being eligible to use their franchise until the municipal election in November.

Spurred by registration meetings about the County during the Spring the Republicans have added 16,181 voters to their registration rolls following last November's gubernatorial election. This includes 5,030 new registrations and 11,151 who had not voted for two years but qualified for reinstatement on the registration rolls after being notified of their imminent removal for non-voting. The total number of Republicans facing removal was 25,296.

Democrats gained 951 new registrations and salvaged 3,527 through reinstatement out of a total of 8,445 who were notified that their registration would lapse unless a request for reinstatement was received promptly.

Of those so notified, a total of 15,083 qualified for reinstatement. In addition to the Republican and Democratic reinstatements listed, there were 389 non-partisan and 16 of miscellaneous parties.

HOME FRONT PLEDGE CAMPAIGN TO BEGIN

Seeks to Aid Ration Program; Stickers to be Issued

A "Home Front Pledge Campaign" to enlist every man, woman, and child to aid in making the OPA program as efficient as possible is now being started. Civilian Defense workers, women's clubs, business and service organizations, church, labor and veterans' groups will be asked to help in the campaign. It is part of a national drive by OPA to aid the rationing program.

A home front sticker will be given to those signing the pledge. This bears the promise: "I shall pay no more than top legal prices. I accept no rationed goods without giving up ration stamps." This sticker will be placed in windows of homes. The stickers show a housewife with her hand raised taking the pledge.

An official pamphlet tells what every individual can do to strengthen and support the government's program of price and rationing.

1. Make the Home Front pledge.
2. Display the Home Front pledge symbol proudly in your window.
3. Watch for the publication of the top legal food prices as they apply in your community.
4. Clip out these official lists and carry them when you shop.
5. If wartime community prices are not published in your newspaper, obtain them from your War Price and Ration Board.
6. Check your retailer's selling

NAVY NEEDS MEN FOR OFFICERS

Opportunities Also For Women Officers In WAVES

The Navy's need for officers continues unabated, Captain T. T. Patterson, U. S. Navy, Director of Naval Officer Procurement for this district, announced today.

The director said civilians with or without special technical training are wanted, and added:

"It cannot be emphasized too strongly that civilians seeking commissions are not halted by the Executive Order of December 5, 1942, which 'froze' manpower for Selective Service. The order applies to enlistments in the ranks, but not to officer applicants, who are free to apply for commissions at any time. There has been much confusion in the public's mind on this point."

At present there are 28 general and special classifications of Navy duty open to qualified officer candidates. The greatest and most urgent needs are for engineering and scientific personnel. The most pressing need for non-technical men is to fill various duties in the Supply Corps.

Candidates must, of course, meet requirements as to age, education, professional experience, and physical qualifications for the duties for which they apply.

Captain Patterson added that the Women's Reserve still needs women for training as WAVE commissioned and petty officers, although a recent three-week recruiting program is bringing excellent results.

Applicants, both men and women should call at the Office of Naval Officer Procurement, 17th floor, Widener Bldg., Philadelphia, or at the Branch Office of Naval Officer Procurement, Third Ave. and Wood St., Pittsburgh.

of men and thousands of machines for vital war work.

CLOTHES . . . needles One of the most complicated but most interesting steps toward conservation is the order limiting the use of materials for clothes.

I did realize that there had been an order banning cuffs on men's trousers, which again seemed like a small drop in the conservation bucket, but after looking over some of the figures on conservation I am now ready to agree that the most trivial-seeming order may be worthwhile.

For I found that by reducing the lengths of tails on men's shirts, the material saved was enough to make 10 million more shirts; taking belts and pockets off pajamas provided material for 2 1/2 million more pajamas; eliminating rayon stripping on knit underwear saved a million pounds of war-essential rayon; simplifying men's work clothes and eliminating unnecessary buttons saved 12 million yards of thread and 150 million buttons; leaving off unnecessary pockets from work clothes provided material to make around seven million more garments; reducing the number of ribs in umbrellas saved 2,800 tons of high grade carbon steel annually; and limiting the length of hair pins to two inches has saved 5,700 tons of steel.

After reading those figures it is apparent that the final blow in winning the war may well be struck by reducing the size of pin heads or enlarging the eyes of needles.

Football Practice To Begin Wednesday

Football practice will begin Aug. 25, at Lower Merion High School, on Pennypacker Field, at 9 a. m. Equipment will be issued Monday and Tuesday. Practice will be held in both morning and afternoon sessions.

Washington, D. C. (NWNs)—Tax experts here, realizing that the people will do a lot of protesting when they have to begin making the series of complicated tax reports required under the new pay-as-you-go law, are now working on suggestions which can make to congress for simplifying the procedure. In addition to expecting public protest, it is also evident that the treasury would have to employ thousands of additional accountants, during this period of manpower shortage, to check reports.

Although no new plan has yet been agreed upon, it is believed that a recommendation will be made to congress to make the present deduction of 20 per cent an actual tax instead of being merely a method of forced savings for taxes. If this change were made, those who were not subject to a surtax above the 20 per cent would no longer be required to make any reports at all unless they wanted to claim deductions not provided for under the pay-as-you-go plan, or unless they had an income of more than $100 from some source other than wages or salary. Adoption of this plan, it is estimated, would excuse 30 million people from making tax reports and would enormously reduce the work of the internal revenue department.

However, since congress probably won't be in session until after Labor Day, and since the first tax estimate must be filed in by everyone by September 1, it is hardly possible that any change can be made in law before that report is due. On September 1, we are all required to estimate what our income will be for the entire year of 1943 and, if that income is greater than the amount which has been deducted so far plus the amounts paid in 1942 income in March and June, a payment of half of the difference between what we owe and what has been deducted must be paid. The other half must be paid in December.

There is considerable action being taken to get congress to reconvene before September, but it doesn't seem likely that this will happen. The tax tangle has not been offered as a reason for getting congress back, the chief activity for reconvening being taken by a congressional group headed by Senator Wheeler, who wants congress to pass legislation to prohibit the drafting of fathers into the armed services.

At present, it has been ordered that fathers can be drafted after October 1 provided all single men and married men without children are taken first. Although there is little doubt that some fathers will be drafted before the end of the year, it is believed here that one of the chief reasons for announcing this plan well in advance is to influence fathers, now in non-essential activities, to get into essential war work.

The manpower shortage and increased absenteeism from war jobs are now considered the major problem of our war effort. Good news from all fighting fronts is believed to have resulted in a let-down in war work on the home front. Men who have been in lucrative war jobs, who now think the war won't last very much longer, are shifting to jobs which have better prospects

Self Service Is Now

Rule in London Hotels

LONDON.—Imagine walking into a residential hotel in London and being told that you couldn't have a room unless you made your own bed, dusted round the room a bit, or even helped out with the dishes. This happens now. It's all because of the servant shortage. Large portions of hotel service staffs now have essential jobs—serving in the armed forces or in factories on the home front. Hotel owners are solving the problem by getting their patrons to pitch in and do some of the work.

280 Hollanders Die in

Penal Camps, Report Says

LONDON.—Dutch underground newspapers reaching here reported that 280 Dutch prisoners had died in German-operated penal camps in the last five months and said Netherlands judges threatened to stop sentencing criminals unless camp conditions improved.

Aneta, Dutch news agency, said the judges had demanded that the Ommen camp be closed or transferred from German to Dutch supervision.

We're Doing Our Best To Give Maximum Service

Schedules have been rearranged to make your call every other week, so that we may pick up your soiled laundry when we deliver your finished work. Please do not send any more than is absolutely necessary. By holding your laundry to a minimum you are helping to share laundry service with a greater number of people. Remember, there are fewer of us to serve more of you, and your cooperation will be an all-round help.

Successful Parenthood

I once knew a father whose philosophy was expressed as follows: "Never want a thing until you know you can get it, and then want it bad." Fortunately, although his children were devoted to him he was not able to pass on to them his belief in making a virtue of being contented with things as they come to you. Yet frustration, failure to get or do what you want in life, is the basis of most unhappiness and a great deal of mental illness. So, like this father, you may feel you can best prepare your children for life by keeping their wants few and by building in them an attitude of "Oh, well, it wasn't meant to be" when opportunities pass them by.

When you stop to think about it, however, you can see that this sort of upbringing would encourage that temptation with which most humans are beset, to do a little less than your best. The wiser method is to study each child's capabilities honestly and then try to direct his ambitions into a field where he has a fair chance of success. But ambition itself is still as necessary a force as in the days of Horatio Alger heroes. So don't belittle or discourage it.

But suppose we guess wrong about a child's talents and he comes up against failure in the career he has chosen with our help? Haven't we done him a great wrong about a child's talents and he comes up against failure in the career he has chosen with our help? Haven't we done him a great wrong. Not necessarily, if along the way he has helped him meet and overcome the everyday frustrations which are numerous in childhood and youth. If, in other words, you have helped him use experience not only for acquiring knowledge but for growth in character. Such a person can face the fact of frustration and failure squarely. He can analyze any unsatisfactory situation in which he finds himself. And then say to himself something like the following, recommended by a psychiatrist: "Here is a desire which can not now be fulfilled, yet one which I very much wish to realize. It can be realized, given time and certain conditions. I will therefore try to work for these conditions. Nevertheless, until that time I will not allow myself to become emotionally disturbed by this situation, and I will do what I can to direct the energy behind these desires of mine into some constructive outlet. Then if I never achieve exactly what I want, at least I will have lived a useful life." This is not an easy formula to apply. Constant effort and trial alone will do it, but it can be done.

The young person who has had the opposite sort of training, whose parents have dinned into him how wonderful he is and that the world owes him a spot in the limelight, is often unable to take it when the promised career turns out to be less glamorous than the one he has dreamed of. They are the ones who continually make excuses for their lack of success—publishers, they claim, never read their manuscripts; popular composers, so they say, steal their melodies; "you have to have a pull" is their frequent plaint.

STORING HOME CANNED FOODS

Important Advice On The Care of Your Winter Vegetables

After a home-maker has put her efforts and time into canning fruits and vegetables, it's important that she store the jars properly to avoid spoilage, loss in food values, and discoloration.

Select a cool, dry, dark, and well-ventilated place for your storage cupboard, suggests Miss Pauline B. Steinberg, home economics representative, Delaware County. An even temperature between 40 and 50 degrees Fahrenheit is ideal. Freezing spoils the texture of the food; heat may be the indirect cause of spoilage.

It is simple to make a storage cupboard. All that is necessary, says Miss Steinberg, is to have enough strong and steady shelves on which to place the jars of food. Shelves that are not too wide are most convenient.

To keep the cupboard dark, the shelves may be enclosed with a door, an old window shade, or a drawn curtain of heavy material. Keep the food in the dark at all times.

Put the shelves in a cool place in the cellar. If the cellar is too warm, the shelves may be put along the wall, then partitioned off into a small room. A few holes in the wall of the cellar will help to keep the temperature lower. Another solution to keep heat from the cellar away from canned foods is to insulate the cupboard with corrugated cardboard.

Do not plan to keep canned foods in the kitchen as it is too warm and the foods may spoil. Sometimes a first floor room with an unused closet is cool enough to store canned foods.

Before storing any jars, wash and dry them. Hot soap-suds may be used for this. It may not be necessary to label canned fruits and vegetables, for you can easily see what is in the jar, but jams, jellies, or any special products should be labeled.

ENTERS COLLEGE

Margery Jane Greenwood, daughter of Mr. Albert L. Greenwood, 31 Aberdale Rd., of this city, has entered the College of William and Mary, in Williamsburg, Va., this summer, as a freshman student under the accelerated program.

MATCHES . . . wood I happened to notice that wooden, household matches seem to be a little shorter than usual. Curious to know if that had anything to do with the war, I checked with a match manufacturer who said, "Yes—the government has ordered us to reduce small wooden matches by one-sixteenth of an inch in size and large ones by one-quarter of an inch."

It seemed to me this was rather an absurd example of the steps to which the government has gone to put its fingers in everybody's business on the grounds of conserving materials. But when I checked further I found that even this insignificant change actually did produce enormous savings. For by this slight reduction in the size of matches—a reduction which makes no difference to anyone—it is estimated that there will be an annual savings of seven million board feet of lumber.

In Washington, I found there is a large staff of experts working on the simplification of every imaginable product and its work already has resulted in savings of 450,000,000 board feet of lumber, 600,000 tons of steel, 17,000 tons of copper, 180,000,000 yards of cloth and quantities of other material. The saving in man hours of labor has also amounted to many millions and the standardization of products has conserved millions of square feet of space on freight cars, boats and trucks.

FRILLS . . . conservation Already there are over 200 products which have been simplified and standardized. Most of us are familiar with the Victory bicycle—a light, practical bicycle which is the only kind which can be made now. By government order, only two bicycle models can be made—one for men and one for women. By eliminating the frills from bicycle-making, the government has saved over a million pounds of brass, almost 35,000 pounds of tin, 44,000 pounds of nickel and 29,000 lbs of copper. The steel saving amounts to 50 per cent.

This same type of conservation is being ordered for every conceivable type of product. The Simplification Branch of the War Production Board now is working on over 1,000 items which will be simplified this year. We will learn about them gradually, but before the year is out we will see changes in repair tools, household brushes, nails, screws, towels, stationary, scissors and a host of other household items.

All of these changes, no matter how minor, will reflect large savings of materials which are needed for war. They will also be instrumental in releasing thousands

NURSES REFRESHER COURSE TO BE GIVEN

Del. Co. Hospital to Start 6-Week Series Sept. 7

As a result of the intensive campaign by the Red Cross and the Armed Services for nurses, the civilian hospitals will be severely handicapped by the lack of well trained personnel to care for the patients on the home front. Therefore, it makes very clear the responsibility of each graduate nurse to prepare herself to assume part of the job vacated by a nurse going into the Service according to recent announcement by hospital authorities.

Many retired registered nurses have already helped in meeting this call by volunteering their services on a limited or even full-time basis. Many of the various institutions of the community have employed them on either a full or part time basis.

Realizing that many new developments have arisen in recent years, the Delaware County Hospital is instituting its third refresher course for the benefit of those nurses who feel the need of brushing up on recent changes in technique and procedures not familiar to the nurse who was active five, ten or more years ago.

Mr. Paxson, Superintendent of the Hospital, has announced that Mrs. Ethel M. Hatter of Upper Darby has been secured to teach this course. Mrs. Hatter is active in the Medical Civilian Defense program. She has her State teaching certificate and has taken graduate work at the University of Pennsylvania and Penn State College.

The course which Mrs. Hatter is to teach will begin Tuesday, September 7, 1943, and applications will be accepted immediately. It is anticipated the course will continue for six weeks on a part-time basis. After applications are received, each student will be interviewed. The lectures will be augmented by members of the Medical Staff and heads of various departments of the Hospital.

Brookline Sparked By Joseph is Now Strong Contender

outfielders. Extra punch was added shortly afterward in the person of Frank Schwanda, an excellent shortstop.

That Brookline has a team to be reckoned with the rest of the way is revealed by the fact that the Hares have defeated not only Manoa, but Narberth, Pen-Mar and the West Phils since Joseph and the other players were signed. Only team to beat the revamped Hares was Overbrook and by a strange coincidence they are slated to clash Sunday at Narberth in the season's final contest, the outcome of which probably will decide which of the two teams will compete in the playoffs.

For while Brookline is now tied with Pen-Mar for third place its presence in the playoffs is far from certain. The Hares meet Manoa in a return game Saturday at 6 P. M. at the Haverford Police field. However, they can lose to Manoa and still make the playoff by beating Overbrook. If Brookline should lose both of this week's games it would need a victory in a postponed game with the West Phils to tie for the fourth playoff position. Overbrook, which kept in the running by losing to the West Phils, 9-7, last Sunday, actually holds the answer to its own and Brookline's fate and their game will share the spotlight with Narberth and Manoa when the regular season comes to an end Sunday.

Narberth muffed a chance to clinch first place money by losing the first game of a twinbill to Pen-Mar, 13-5, but assured itself no worse than a tie by scoring a 4-0 victory behind Jim Craig's 2-hit pitching in the windup. Manoa crushed the West Phils, 8-1, on Saturday only to have its four-game winning streak shattered by Brookline on Sunday and now the defending champions need a double victory this weekend to tie the Narberth for first place in the final standings.

Walt Cantwell, who turned back the West Phils with four hits, most likely will attempt to snap Brookline's streak for Manoa on Saturday. The Sunday finale with Narberth figures to be a hurling duel as Allison will be attempting to regain his winning ways at the expense of Craig.

P. T. C. CO. SETS NEW SAFETY RECORD

Public Cooperation and Co. Employees Share This Honor

A new safety record was achieved for the Philadelphia Transportation Company system during the first six months of 1943, continuing the Philadelphia area as a leader in public transportation safety.

Although many more passengers were carried and more mileage rolled up, the accidents per 100,000 miles, including the most trivial, during the first half of this year declined 18.17 per cent, compared to the first half of 1942. The accident decline for the whole of 1942 was 12 per cent, compared to 1941.

On another basis, accidents per 100,000 passengers, the record of the first six months of this year averaged 2.39, compared to 3.21 during the first six months of 1942, a drop of 25.55 per cent. Not only was a new record set on the basis of mileage and of passengers carried but the total number of accidents declined 5.31 per cent during the first half of 1943, compared to corresponding period of 1942.

Credit for the safety record, P.T.C. officials stated, is due to public cooperation, as well as to the company's safety training program and cooperation, of transportation employees, including hundreds of new employees who replaced workers who have joined the armed forces.

Poetic Housewife Writes On Hubby and Ration Books

From the Far West comes this untitled poem, which might be called "Rationing Could Be Verse."

I can't send my husband to market—he'll order some meat for a stew. And then when the points are requested, insist they be torn from the blue. Or if it's canned soup he has chosen, or pineapple, ketchup, what not, He'll count up the number of red ones he plans to give for the lot. He'll pick up the greatest collection of vegies, in big cans and small. Although I've repeatedly told him the fresh ones aren't rationed at all. And when from those rules he's untangled and able to just muddle thru He's likely to offer some coupons from strips which have not yet come due.

I carefully list all the items, essentials we need to replace. And then he buys plenty of extras he wants to have handy "in case." I can't send my husband to market, he worries me to a huff. For when he adds points up correctly, he never has money enough. So now we've a frank understanding; he's "sorry" (the wily old elf). He stays home and plays with the children, while I pull the boners myself.

CLOTHING CEILING

Retail and wholesale ceiling prices for woman's, girls', children's and toddlers' Fall and Winter dresses, suits, coats, blouses, and other outer clothing have been provided by OPA at levels equal to or lower than those of last Fall, in Amendment No. 1, to Maximum Price Regulation 330.

ARMY NEEDS DOCTORS

To continue the standard of the U. S. Army as the healthiest army in the world, 7,500 additional physicians and surgeons will be needed during the coming three months, and an additional 2,500 by January 1, 1944. The Major General Norman T. Kirk, Surgeon General, says: "The casualty rate in the Army to date has been very low, and one of the main reasons has been the availability of trained surgeons on the battlefield and in hospitals behind the lines to give our wounded men quick, efficient, and expert care."

FOOD PRICES DOWN

"Retail food prices as a group—representing about two-fifths of total living costs—declined by 2.0 per cent." Secretary of Labor Frances Perkins said recently in discussing changes in the cost of living from June 15 to July 15. "Clothing costs rose 0.5 per cent. Other costs, including house furnishings, utility rates and services, were stable or increased moderately." With meat prices cut back by OPA and vegetables seasonally lower, the cost of living for city workers dropped 0.8 per cent.

TO USE NYA EQUIPMENT

Vocational schools which were using National Youth Administration equipment or buildings on June 30, have been advised by Paul V. McNutt, Chairman, War Manpower Commission, to file applications before October 12 with the regional offices of the Procurement Division, Treasury Department, if they wish to continue using these buildings, tools, and machines for training students during the war.

CARS TO KEEP RUNNING

America's 30,000,000 motorists have been assured by WPB that sufficient new and reconditioned parts will be made available to keep the nation's essential cars rolling through 1944. Even the country's 5,000,000 vehicles ten years old or more will be kept on the road by necessary replacement parts.

ORDER FUEL NOW

With War Price and Rationing Boards rapidly completing the task of renewing consumers' heating oil rations, OPA is urging householders to place order immediately to give both consumers and dealers plenty of time during warm weather to get a supply of heating oil in home storage tanks.

SPEED LIMIT SAVES TIRES

Tires wear out about four times as fast at 65 miles an hour as at 35 miles an hour and speed is the most important factor determining the rate of tire wear, according to a recent report by the Public Roads Administration after a four-year investigation. Strict observance of the national 35-mile speed limit offers the greatest promise of keeping the country's cars rolling for another year, the study concluded.

By LYTLE HULL

Life at home these days is made up of five principal functions: working, eating(?), sleeping, singing government papers of various kinds, and wondering if we filled them out correctly and how many years we have to spend in jail if we made a mistake.

In the good old days we didn't have many such documents to sign, and usually when we did receive a questionnaire or a statement of some kind to fill out, there was no dire warning contained therein of life behind the bars if we failed to dot the i's. But nowadays we fearfully scan the incoming mail for a long envelope with no stamp on it and containing an interminable document which no ordinary human can understand but which an occasional lawyer thinks he can. This we are told to fill out pronto—or else; and the "restrain" is usually the same, differing only in the size of the fine and the length of the jail term in the event we indulge in any fancy answers. When we get half way through the first paragraph we realize that if we attempt to fill it out ourselves we are sure to make a mistake and lose the farm and have to break rocks for the government. So we like it to a lawyer, or the banker, or someone we think has a better knowledge of "Greek" than we have, and we trust our fortune and our freedom to him—for a fee.

Now anyone who is over 12 knows that if he fills out a paper with intent to defraud the government, he can and should be punished. He may not know the amount of the fine or the length of the prison term, but he has a pretty good working idea that they are large and long. If he is a crook he is going to falsify anyhow—provided he believes he can get away with it; but it would not enter the minds of the vast majority of American men and women to purposely make a misstatement in documents of this kind. (We except the question of age.)

The warning appears to us to be a superfluity and an unintended affront to the citizenry as a whole. It may be argued that the "jail" threat has to be included for the benefit of those who may be tempted. But those who may be tempted know the answer without having to read it.

The citizens realize that many of these documents are necessary in times like the present, and they don't kick about them—much. But Americans don't like being threatened. They don't consider it necessary in the first place and it reminds them of Germany in the second place. It creates a creepy feeling every time one reads this threatening warning—whether he be a decent citizen or a crook. He feels it is unnecessary, unpleasant, un-American, intensely irritating and too superfluous to have any effect other than to create an uneasy feeling which is foreign to the American way of thought.

Author of "How to Win Friends and Influence People."

In 1912 a girl up in Winnipeg, Canada, had to get a job. She found one selling candy and cigars in a drug store. She did not like the job, but she knew she didn't dare give it up, so she made a most important decision. She decided that she would make the job interesting!

Clara Stover began to study candy, and the best way to sell it. She learned the whims of customers, and tried to find why one customer liked this particular kind of candy, and the next customer didn't. Then she became interested in the manufacture of candy. She found candy to be a fascinating subject. The business of candy selling behind a drug store counter was no longer drab and dreary.

She learned so much about candy that she and her husband were offered a job in a candy factory where she learned even more.

Ideas of her own developed, and she decided to make and sell her own candy. She moved to Denver and made candy in her home, which was a bungalow. Her husband took samples of it and went out and sold it. She didn't know what to call her candy so she named it "Mrs. Stover's," then one day an idea popped into her head. Since she was making it in a bungalow, why not call it Bungalow candy? And right there the name was born.

Business increased. They moved to Kansas City. And there she has a five-story building completely devoted to the manufacture of her candy. She had seven employees when she started; today she has 37.

Not only that, she has 23 stores scattered over the United States; and, in addition, she has 90 dealers who handle her candy.

Her wholesale mail order business increased also. Today she has the largest mail order candy business in the United States.

What an inspiring story this is! A girl had a dreary job—one that

Just Another Axis Prisoner

With his face screwed into a scowl and his boots covered with dust, this Italian officer sits on a truck in Sicily while awaiting transportation to a war prison camp. Busy Allied soldiers nonchalantly ignore him. Allied forces ripped into the last few remaining Axis beachheads which totaled about 1,600 of the island's 10,000 square miles.

palled on her—but she decided to make it interesting, and succeeded in a way she would never in her wildest imaginings have thought possible. If you find you have a dull job, why don't you decide to make it interesting? Study it, probe it, get ideas, carry them out. Almost any job in the world can be made interesting if you go about it right. Yet I have letters written me almost daily by people who can see no future whatever in the work they are doing.

"The flowers are for yesterday and the monuments for tomorrow."

"I'd like to tell you what the Japs did to some friends of mine"

"I AM LIEUTENANT (J. G.) ANN B. BERNATITUS, U. S. N.—a nurse, back from Bataan. I have a message for you . . .

"Those American boys—who fought for you with their backs to the wall, waiting for help that never reached them—came from the land of plenty. But when their lives were at stake, all they had was . . . plenty of nothing!

"They were outnumbered, outgunned, and out-supplied. They were so short of ammunition that antiaircraft gunners often had to hold their fire until the enemy planes were on top of them. They were so short of bandages and gauze that we nurses had to wash out the old ones and use them again.

"But they were never short of courage. They never spoke of surrender. They just went on fighting, and hoping, and dying. And no sacrifice was ever too great.

"Let me give you an example. One terrible day on Bataan we had 285 patients on our operating tables in 8 hours—a new patient every two minutes of the day.

"A sailor was brought in with his abdomen blown to bits. He was a goner and I think he knew it. 'Doctor,' he asked, 'is there any hope at all?'

"The doctor wished to reassure him and replied, 'We'll do everything we can!' The sailor tried to roll over. 'Doc,' he begged, 'get me off this table and save one of those other fellows who still has a fighting chance.'

"That was the kind of men we had at Bataan. And they would want you to remember it, but not what they did, but what they did without.

"They would want you to remember it, but not with flowers and memorials. The flowers are for yesterday and the monuments for tomorrow.

"Remember them now—this month and every month—by buying War Bonds!

"Buy guns and planes and shells and ships and tanks—for those other countrymen of yours who are fighting so far from home. See to it that never again, any place in the world, will American fighting men be caught short as they were on Bataan! That never again will American wounded perish for the help your dollars might have sent!

"Certainly taxes are higher. Certainly the cost of living has gone up. But the men on Bataan were never ten-percenters!

"They gave everything they had. And now it's up to you to buy War Bonds not only if you can, but all you can! Please believe me, folks—that's the way the boys on Bataan would like to be remembered!"
